

Tightrope act carve-out - Gordian knot or masterpiece?

© BESTBRK/ISTOCK

The decision to divest business areas has been made. Now the complex web of financial data, contracts and processes must be skilfully untangled. PKF helps to untangle the knot.

The long road to independence

Small and large carve-out activities at home and abroad cannot usually be solved with a one-fits-all masterplan. Each separation is unique - for the company as well as for the employees concerned. Disagreements and a lack of communication can disrupt the entire future path of the freshly separated part of the company. But how can you tackle these complex challenges?

PKF as a problem solver in every phase

We offer you the experience gained from numerous international carve-out projects. We will accompany you from planning to execution and follow-up. No matter what phase you are in or what activity is causing you concern. Our customized solutions will inspire you!

Preparation of carve-out financials

The separation of assets and liabilities down to cost center level, the valuation of intangible assets or support in the audit of carve-out financials - PKF has the experience and the right tools to master these complex tasks.

Standalone Readiness

Advice on setting up the new organization, transferring contracts and ensuring operational performance on "Day X" are among our absolute key competences.

Project Management Office (PMO)

The PKF PMO team supports the project management and keeps a holistic eye on the carve-out process. This ranges from setting up a suitable project structure to ongoing communication with the individual teams and high-quality stakeholder reporting.
